Sermon Summary

This is the ninth sermon in the series "Building the Future", studying through the book of Nehemiah. Pastor Ben Lee reminded us that God, who was faithful to the children of Israel, is ever faithful to us as well. We must therefore come clean before God and commit to live fully for Him. We start by remembering God's hand in our lives. We renew our commitment to live for God. Each of us must make a personal commitment to obey God's Word and live our lives God's way.

Sermon Recap (Full Summary)

In Nehemiah chapter 9, the children of Israel assembled after the wall was completed. It was an assembly of humble repentance as they recalled and gave thanks to God for bringing them back as His covenantal people after many years of exile.

Pastor Ben Lee reminded us that God, who was faithful to the children of Israel, is ever faithful to us as well. We must therefore come clean before God and commit to live fully for Him.

We start by remembering God's hand in our lives.

- We make time to re-examine our lives (Nehemiah 9:1-5). The children of Israel realised their need for grace and gathered to repent and confess their sins. Similarly, we must make time for God in the hurriedness of our daily living, prioritising time with God over entertainment and the other temporal things in life.
- We see the height of God's greatness and realise the depths of our sin (Nehemiah 9:6-15). God is ever faithful throughout history. His greatness and character are evident throughout the ages. We must know that we are fallen. But instead of feeling condemned, we should focus on God's glory and realise that we are in desperate need for Him!
- When we uncover our sin to God, He covers it with His mercy (Nehemiah 9:16-31). Our problem is that sin weighs heavily on us (Psalm 32:3-4) if we do not go to God in confession and repentance (Psalm 32:5). When we do, we will find compassion (Proverbs 28:13).

We renew our commitment to live for God. God has a covenant with His people. This is a binding agreement. Each of us must make this personal commitment. The children of Israel sealed this commitment in writing (Nehemiah 9:38-10:28) to obey God's Word and live their lives God's way. They made three specific commitments to walk according to God's Word:

- Marry a godly person (Nehemiah 10:30). We should honour God at home, especially in marriage (1 Corinthians 7:39). Pastor Ben Lee exhorted singles not to enter into marriage with a non-believer and for parents to guide our children to live out this commitment.
- Worship God as our first priority (Nehemiah 10:31). God instituted the Sabbath rest for His people out of love. As Christians, we should commit to this principle of resting and trusting in God!
- Give our first and best to God (Nehemiah 10:32-39). We are not to neglect the house of God. This is not about the church building but investing into the lives of God's people. God wants us to practice generosity in our giving and not be satisfied to doing just the bare minimum.

Spiritual renovation happens before spiritual renewal! No matter where we are spiritually, we need to pursue spiritual renewal personally and as a church community. Only God can cause renewal and we can rely of His promises. Pastor Ben Lee urged each person to make this spiritual commitment specific and be accountable to one another in the cell.
